AMJ Coatings Ltd was established in 2019, built on hands-on industry experience and a practical understanding of commercial refurbishment.

What started with small-scale painting work quickly developed into a specialist service supporting waste management and commercial operators across the North West, North Wales and further afield.

Today, AMJ Coatings Ltd work with a range of well-known companies and contractors, delivering cost-effective refurbishment solutions that help businesses extend the life of their containers and reduce unnecessary replacement costs.

How It Started

Founder Andy Jevons first entered the industry through painting and coatings work before being introduced to commercial skip refurbishment. Recognising the demand for a reliable, cost-effective alternative to replacement, AMJ Coatings Ltd was created to offer a straightforward, high-quality service tailored to the needs of the industry.

That practical, hands-on background still shapes how the business operates today, focused on doing the job properly, efficiently and to the right standards.

“This company comes highly recommended for service and punctuality.”

Geoff McCormick, Operations Manager, Veolia
